Concept Note

Preamble to the constitution of India indicates "Equality of status and opportunity for every citizen". Participation of women in workforce is continuously increasing with improved access to education and employment. But, unfortunately a large percentage of them face sexual harassment at workplace everyday. Sexual harassment is a gross violation of women's right to equality and dignity. Besides it being a contravention of women's fundamental right, it also causes loss of workplace motivation and productivity.

The sexual harassment of women at workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act 2013 was passed with a purpose of ensuring safe working environment for women. Yet there have been reported incidents which indicates breach of this act. To prevent sexual harassment calls for widespread awareness of the sexual harassment acts and rules.

This workshop will present a detailed overview of the sexual harassment of women at workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) or the POSH Act 2013.
